

Small Business Month – Meet Me in Nowra

Join Regional Development Australia Illawarra Shoalhaven as we dive into the latest trends and insights shaping NSW's small business landscape with NSW Small Business Commissioner, Chris Lamont.

Hear from local business success stories as they share their business stories and insights into the region's future opportunities.

What is NSW Small Business Month about?

The NSW Small Business Commission is hosting NSW Small Business Month in October 2024 to celebrate the contribution small businesses make.

NSW Small Business Month is a month-long program for small businesses across New South Wales to attend events aligned to their individual business interests. This year's program has been designed to provide small businesses with quality opportunities to network, develop skills and gain knowledge.
